THE PEACE COMMISSION.

The Sioux Treaty Commission—Spotted Tail's Speech.

SPOTTED TAIL AGENCY, Neb., Sept. 23, via Sydney, 26.—The first council with the Sioux and Spotted Tail agency Indians, with the full commission, was held this afternoon. Colonel Boone, as chairman, said:

My friends, seven days since we sent down some propositions to you that were submitted to the people at Red Cloud. We have come now to hear your answer and decision.

Spotted Tail said: We have come here to meet you, My friend, I have considered the word you brought us from the Great Father, and I have made up my mind that this is the fifth time words have come to us from the Great Father. At the time the first treaty was made on Horse creek there was a provision made to borrow the overland road of the Indians, and, though I was a boy then, they told me the promises were made to last fifty years. These promises have not been kept. The next conference we had was held with General Messadier, where there were no promises made; but we made friends and shook hands. Then there was the treaty made by Gen. Sherman, Gen. Sanburn and Gen. Harney, when we were told we should have annuities and goods for 35 years. They said this, but did not tell the truth. At that time Gen. Sherman told me the country was mine and I should save any place I wished for a reservation. I said I would take the country from the head of White river to the Missouri. He said they would give us cows to raise cattle, mares to raise horses, oxen and wagons. He said there should be issues of such things as we needed to learn the arts with, and besides money to every one. He told us each of us should have $25 for an annuity; but I told them that was a bad amount, and that we did not understand money, and that it should be $20 each, and he voted that. They told me these things should be carried out, and for me to go to the mouth of the Wheystone and call my people and these things should be fulfilled. But it was not true. When those promises failed to be carried out, I went myself to see the Great Father and went in his house and told him these things. He replied: "Go home; select any place in any country I choose for my home and go there and live with my people." I came home, selected this place and moved here. They told me if I would move here I should receive the fulfillment of the promises made me, but all I got was some very small cows and some old wagons that were worn out. Again, last summer, you came to talk about me country. We said we would consider the matter; we said we would leave it to the Great Father for him to settle. In reply he has sent you out this summer. You have come to visit our land, and we now ask you how many years there are for us to live. My friends, you who sat before me, are traders and merchants. You have come here to trade. Others have not come here to meet anything out of the way without payment for it. When a man has a pony for him that he values, and another party can buy it, he brings with him such goods and things as he wishes to purchase it with. My friends, your people have both intellect and heart, and the three to consider it is what way you may do the best to live. My people, who are here before me and you, are precisely the same. I see that my friends before me are men of age and dignity and men of the kind that have good judgment and consider well what they do. I infer from that that you are here to consider well what shall be good for us for a long time to come. I think each of you has selected somewhere a good piece of land for himself with the intention to live on it, that he may there raise his children. My people are not different. They also live upon the earth, and upon things that come there from above. We have the same thoughts and feelings in that respect that the white people have. This is the country where they were born, where they have acquired all their property, their children and their homes. You have come to buy this country of us, and it would be well if you come with the goods you propose to give us and send them out in your hand so we can see the good price you purpose to pay for it. Then our hearts would be glad. My people have grown up together with these white men who have married into our tribe. A great many have grown up with their children. And many of us have learned to speak their language, and our children are with them in our school, and we want to be considered all one people with them. My friends, when you go back to the Great Father, I wish you to tell him to send us goods; send us yokes of oxen; give us wagons so that we can earn money by hauling goods from the railroad. This seems to be a very hard day; half our country is at war and we have come upon very difficult times. This war did not spring up here in our land, it was brought upon us by the children of the Great Father, who came to take our lands from us without price and who do a great many evil things. The Great Father and his children are blameable for this trouble. We have been a store house to hold our provisions, but the Great Father sends us very little provisions to put in our storehouse, and when the [illegible] with our ponies and have gone north to hunt. The children of the Great Father are fighting them. It has been our wish to live here peaceably, but the Great Father has filled it with soldiers who think only of our death. Some of our people who have gone from here in order that they may have charge of others who have gone north to hunt have been attacked by soldiers from this direction, and when they have gone north have been attacked by soldiers from another direction, and now when they are willing to come back the soldiers stand between them to keep them from coming home. It seems to me there is better way than this. When people come to trouble it is better for both parties to come together without arms, talk it over and find some peaceful way to settle it.

You have mentioned to me two countries. The Missouri river country I know; when we were there we had a great deal of trouble. I left a hundred of my people buried there. The other country I have never seen, but I agree to go to look at it with fifty of my young men. When this trouble commenced the Great Father stopped the sale of ammunition which caused great suffering to my people, notwithstanding we are all chiefs in meaning to do what is good for our people. My friend, [pointing to General Vandevere] you are a wise man: when you were here last spring you told me you would help me: I want you to do it.

Swift Bear then said they wanted to consider the matter until to-morrow.

The propositions were read for the second time and interpreted, and the council adjourned till morning.

Treaty Concluded.

SPOTTED TAIL AGENCY, Sept. 26.—The treaty with the Indians of this agency was concluded this evening after a three hours council. Spotted Tail made another lengthy speech in which he insisted upon going down to the Indian Territory, first to look at the country, then to go to Washington to talk with the Great Father. At the same time he also wished a delay in signing the treaty until the Missouri war was satisfactorily and peacefully settled. He said: I wish to have two men to help me. One is the chief minister (pointing to Bishop Whipple) and the other the Rev. Mr. Hinman, to settle the matter. You have the words of the Great Spirit and you try to live according to His will. You know this war trouble does not, put the Great Spirit, and I want you to help me to rub it out. An Episcopalian minister has come here to teach us, but I don't think it is done properly. I would like to have some female ministers, dressed in black clothes, to receive the girls in a house and teach them, and so have white male ministers in black hats and coats to take the boys in another place and teach them properly. These ministers I want to take the names of things sent to us and when they come, to see that they are all there.

Blue Teeth, Spotted Tail's father-in-law, wanted to know who was the one that was to carry their words to the Great Father, and upon Solicitor Gen. Cayl and being pointed out, handed him a handsomely decorated pipe and tobacco pouch, which he said the Great Spirit had given him. He told Gaylord to present it to the Great Father at Washington as from a man who spoke at the council and ask the Great Father to be merciful to the Indians, and pity them and help them, and let them remain in their own country.

Speeches were made by several other Indians and by Judge Gaylord, Col. Boone and Bishop Whipple. But the Indians were still undecided, when Spotted Tail arose and left the council room. When outside, L. M. Raymond, a white man living among Spotted Tail's people for the last 27 years, told him if he did not sign the treaty Red Cloud would get ahead of him and derive all the advantage to be had from the treaty. Raymond then went to Red Cloud and Red Dog, and Red Cloud's agency, who were outside the council room, and told them to go in and urge Spotted Tail and his people to sign. They did so, and made short but effective speeches and then withdrew. Thereupon Two Strike said the reason we are afraid to touch the pen and are acting before you is because we have been deceived so many times before. If we knew the words you told were true, we would be willing to sign every day. Then Spotted Tail addressed his people, saying, "If our friends up above," referring to Red Cloud agency, "had not signed the treaty I would help them in holding out; but as our friends up there have signed, I say all good men who are true to come up and sign it." Half an hour later the necessary signatures were attached and the treaty was made. The Indians here all want the military agent removed and Howard reinstated.

In the Centennial agricultural hall there are two immense hogs, stuffed, each bearing a placard telling its age and weight, and, with the name of the man who prepared them for exhibition, followed by the word "taxidermist." A man and his wife were looking at these with great interest. After reading the placards, the woman said: "Why, these are taxidermists. I thought they were hogs." Her husband looked at the creatures with a puzzled expression, and then went carefully over the placards, as if to satisfy himself fully on the point. Finally he replied: "They are hogs. Taxidermist is the name of the place they came from."

Serenade to Gen. Sherman.

This evening the First Regiment, Veteran Guard, will tender Gen. Sherman, at the Palace Hotel, a complimentary serenade. The U. S. Fourth Artillery band will accompany the regiment.

The Veteran Guard assembled at Horticultural Hall this evening about 8 o'clock, and thence, preceded by the 4th artillery band and a corps of torchlight bearers, marched to Market and Kearny streets, down latter street to Washington, and thence along Montgomery street, a great crowd following the procession. It came to a halt and front before the offices of the Bulletin, Chronicle, Call, Post and Alta, marching a short distance up California street to salute the latter or these journals, the band playing popular airs. The procession then marched to the Cosmopolitan Hotel where Senator Sargeant was called, but he addressed the crowd briefly. The substance of his remarks being that in the light of the recent events in the South, the Democracy had no right to taunt the Republicans with waving the bloody shirt, as they were themselves responsible for the present horrors and bad blood. The procession then took up the line of march for the Palace Hotel, and the Veterans with a large throng poured into the court to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia," filling the quadrangle with a dense throng. The guests of the hotel were assembled in galleries, and the scene was very brilliantly illuminated by gas jets and calcium lights borne in the procession. The band played a few selections, when in response to loud calls, Gen. Sherman appeared in the east gallery, greeted with rousing cheers, and made a short address, ignoring political topics and dwelling mainly upon the advantages of California and Pacific coast. He touched briefly upon the identity of good soldiers and good citizens, closing with thanks for the honor tendered him. He was frequently interrupted by applause. Calls were then made for Secretary Cameron and Senator Sargent, but Gen. Sherman apologized for the former on the ground of fatigue and illness, and the Senator declined to come forward. The band then struck up "Marching Through Georgia," the Veterans joining in the chorus, and the procession filed out, the crowd followed and marched to their headquarters, where they broke ranks.

The weather to-day has been cool and cloudy in marked contrast to the heat of the two previous days.

He stated that the amount was about $50,000; that it was made to enable Macleay to raise a mortgage on his ranch in Los Angeles county, and that it was made at Stanford's request, the consideration of which was that Macleay should report on the bill then under consideration in his committee, involving the question of fares and freights, favorably to the railroad.

Turkish War News.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 25.—The necessary instructions in conformity with the decision of the Porte as to the extent of the truce have been sent to the Turkish commanders. The report that Austria has not assented to conditions of peace is denied.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—A later dispatch from Constantinople announces that the ambassadors will communicate on Tuesday to the Porte the formal conditions of peace as settled by the European Powers, the points of which have previously been reported. Russia has given her assent in principle to these conditions.

Servian War News.

A telegram from Belgrade says public opinion in Servia is greatly excited over the conditions of peace proposed by the Powers. It is stated that the restoration of the statu quo ante bellum in Servia with the introduction of local reforms in the Christian provinces of Turkey would be a fatal blow to these countries without actual independence. Servia would be morally dead. The promised reforms are not likely to be carried out. Peace secured on such conditions would merely defer the inevitable conflict between the Christians and Turks.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The Times' Belgrade dispatch says the people are amazed at the good understanding between Russia and England, which they perceive will almost certainly end hostilities. Russia proposed only one amendment to the English programme, and it was adopted.

VIENNA, Sept. 25.—A correspondent telegraphs the Times that the idea of appointing a commission to arrange the details of the settlement in the provinces gains favor.

"I give and bequeath to Mary, my wife, the sum o' one hunder' pound a year," said an old farmer. "Is that written down, master?" "Yes," replied the lawyer. "But she is not so old; she may marry again. Won't you make any change in that case?" "Most people do." "Ay, do they?" said the farmer. "Well, write again, and say that if my wife marries again, I will give and bequeath to her the sum o' two hunder' pound a year. That'll do, won't it, master?" "Why, it's just doubling the sum she would have if she remained unmarried," said the lawyer; "it's generally the other way—the legacy is lessened if the widow marries again." "Ay," said the farmer, "but him as gets her 'll desarve it."

WELL RECEIVED.—A letter received from Empire City states that wherever Hon. Richard Williams made speeches in Coos county he was greeted by large and enthusiastic audiences. Mr. Williams made a strong and favorable impression in the minds of all who heard him. At Gardiner the people were also highly pleased with Mr. Williams' remarks, and Mr. Lane's friends now give up that precinct as hopelessly lost to their candidate.—Roseburg Independent.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

SENATORIAL COURTESY—BILLS WISE AND OTHERWISE—DENTISTS AND DOCTORS' BILLS—LEGISLATIVE HUMOR.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, Sept. 26, 1876.

The smoke of the contest for Senator has fully cleared away, and the field whereon the battle was waged is again peaceful, and though the strife was bloodless, its bitterness left a feeling in the bosoms of some of the participants that will not be eradicated for awhile at least, and may grow into an estrangement of some whose political slumbers have hitherto been under the same blanket. The election, all admit, was only gained by the most arbitrary application of the party lash, and there were more than half a score of Democrats who, like Palmer, of Benton and Polk, voted for Grover "because he was the nominee of the regular Democratic caucus," a rule of conduct we trust destined at no distant day to be regarded in American politics as "more honored in the breach, than in the observance." This voting, under a sort of mental protest will, as time passes and men obtain broader views of political subjects, become a thing of the past, and men of all parties will occupy a higher position on such questions than ever before. In this legislature there is more of the liberal element of the Democracy than we have seen in the Oregon assembly for many years, but they are yet "babes" in political independence and have not grown strong enough to break the party shackles. Yet there is hope even of these, and though the Senator elect may not represent the more advanced element in the party, he is perhaps a good type of the class of Democrats whose votes he received. An increase of the light which has been given them, and a few years more "growth in grace," and the mental protests to the dictates of the caucus would break out in open hostility to its nominee and lay his Senatorial hopes prone in the dust beside those whom he has just slaughtered by the mere force of the party machine or in plainer language, defeated because he controlled the ring that controlled the party organization. While Gov. Grover has many warm personal friends, and as a private citizen and gentleman is highly esteemed, no one can claim that without the endorsement of the caucus, which makes him not a whit worthier or fitter for the Senatorship, he would be the choice of one-third of his own party in the State at large. But while his opponents in the strife have been worsted some of them will prove too lively corpses in the Democratic camp, and may yet arise from the political graves in which they have been laid, to renew the fight with some who so unmercifully applied the party lash in the late strife.

There have been over one hundred bills already introduced in the two houses, but so far not one of them has passed into a law or been sent to the governor for his signature. Many of these bills are crude in form and construction, and will require careful consideration and amendment at the hands of the several committees, to whose hands they have been or will be consigned. Already the judiciary committee in the House has begun to put a quietus on some of the minor attempts to alter, amend or repeal certain sections, clauses, titles or chapters of the code, and yesterday that committee reported back H. B. 9, to amend the law relating to [illegible] to appeals; H. B. 12, repealing § 6, section 1,041, title 8, ch. 14, code of civil procedure, respecting fees of district attorneys; H. B. 13, repealing the law relating to board and lodging of jurors, and H. B. 14, repealing section 940, title 1, ch. 18 of the code of civil procedure, and recommended that they "do not pass." It is most likely that the recommendation of the committee will be adopted, and these several bills be killed. There are a good many other measures contemplated in the bills introduced, which will consume a good deal of the time of the legislature, and be finally voted down simply because they have not merit enough in them to enlist the support of any considerable number of the members, and not because they contain anything positively bad, and while their passage might be of interest to a few individuals, the State at large would be but little the gainer or loser by their enactment into law or their failure. The more

IMPORTANT BILLS,

Before the two branches of the Assembly have only yet reached about the first reading before that branch in which they were introduced, and the action taken so far on the school law, the canal and locks question, the law governing the assessment and collection of taxes, the law regulating freights and fares on railroad, steamboats, and we suppose on stage coaches, wagons carts and wheelbarrows, the questions of the future care and keeping of the insane, and the management of the penitentiary, the reduction of the State debt to constitutional limits, the promotion of immigration and the payment of the expenses of Oregon's exhibition at the centennial, has not been sufficient to develop just what the disposition of the members is on these matters. That some changes in the existing laws on all these subjects will be made or attempted, is quite likely. George in the Senate, and Gault in the House, have each a bill before their respective branches to amend the school law according to the ideas of the State Teachers' Institute, and as both bills are nearly alike they will probably be merged into one bill which may pass. The changes made are in the selection of text books and in the school age, allowing each county to choose its own text books once every four years, provided that districts containing 1,000 or more persons over 6 and under 21 years of age to select its own text books, and fixing the age at which pupils may be admitted to the public schools at not less than 6 years or more than 21. The latter provision is certainly a wise one, as any one would soon admit who would visit the public schools of Portland and see the rooms of the several primary departments crowded full of babies some of them unable even to tell their own names. Besides, the idea that a child should be sent to school before it is at least 6 years old has long since been exploded by the improved knowledge of the laws of physiology and health.

Senator Lee has a bill for the leasing of the penitentiary and the convicts to private parties, upon which there has yet been no definite action, as is also the case with the bill by Senator George of your county to the use of the canal and locks at Oregon City. Both these bills are on subjects vastly important to the taxpayers of the State, and should there be a probability of their becoming laws I may have more to say of their merits respectively. In some respects, as introduced, they are also crude and imperfect, and perhaps in points impracticable. The subject matter of the

TOWAGE AND PILOTAGE

On the Columbia river is being discussed at some length privately among the members, and there is a strong feeling that the commerce of the State demands that the door to competition in that business be thrown open as widely as possible consistent with entire safety to shipping property, and always considering as first in importance the necessary skillfulness of the pilots and seaworthiness of the tugs employed on the bar. A bill to repeal the law giving certain parties the monopoly of this business on the Columbia river bar, was introduced in the Senate yesterday morning by Mr. Davis, of your county.

A LEGISLATIVE "GOAK."

A bill is pending in the lower House to protect the dental profession from the imposition of unskilled and uncertificated persons who essay to practice dentistry in the State. It came up yesterday afternoon, and there being some doubt as to what committee it should be referred, it was moved to refer to the judiciary committee, but Lawrence, chairman of that committee, disclaimed all knowledge of the tooth question and objected to such reference, as there was no question of law involved. Gilbert moved to refer to the committee on internal improvements, which carried, the result producing a "broad grin" in the lobby. A motion to refer the bill to regulate the practice of medicine to the same committee was lost.

The committee appointed to visit the deaf mute school, submitted the following report which was adopted.

Mr. President: The joint committee appointed under S. J. R. 9 and H. J. R. 18, have performed that part of their duty requiring them to visit the institute for the deaf mutes, and respectfully report that they find the said institution in a very creditable condition, and the pupils having excellent proficiency in the acquisition of useful knowledge under the very efficient management of the present principal, Rev. P. B. Knight, and his associates. Your committee will make such suggestions and recommendations in their final report as they deem just and proper. In the meantime your committee respectfully recommend that the Legislative Assembly meet in joint convention in the hall of the House of Representatives on the 28th of September, at 4 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of witnessing the method of teaching the mutes and the proficiency made by the pupils of said institute. Respectfully submitted.

MR TILDEN'S TWO DEFENSES

Two distinct lines of defense against the charge of perjury and fraud presented against Gov Tilden, in connection with his income return and both of them on examination appear fatally defective The defense offered by Judge Sinnott and which is understood to have been dictated by Mr Tilton, is that it is not true that his income in 1862 was greater than that specified in his return This is intended as a denial of the facts alleged and if it is, upon analysis a sufficient denial, the issue of fact is clearly made up, and the public must look to the evidence to determine whether the charge, thus denied, is sufficiently proved The evidence consists of Mr Tilden's own statement made under oath in a recent law suit wherein he specified two particular fees of $10,000 each, received by him in 1862 for legal services of information collected from various sources showing receipts by him of about $80,000 more during the same year of the circumstance that for several years subsequent to 1862 he declined to make any income return, and of the fact that where at the beginning of the war in 1861 he had but a moderate fortune, in the next ten years his wealth so increased that he could count his fortune by millions His return for 1862 stated the incomes for that year at $7,113 Now, what is to be done with his own sworn statement of $20,000 in two specified fees in 1862? His friends assert that these fees were for employment and services rendered in 1859, and that fees received before 1862, though paid in that year, were not chargable as income of that year. Let that be admitted, and still the question recurs upon these same fees The employment commenced in 1859 but when did it end? How much was performed before 1862? On this question the information is silent But let it be assumed that the proper proportion of those fees was accounted for in making up the $7,113 return we have to suppose that besides these two ten thousand-dollar fees Mr. Tilden's profession brought him nothing Can any one suppose that Samuel J. Tilden had no other business as a lawyer during time? Needless barristers do not command thousand-dollars fees. They are the sinecures that are sought out by the great railway corporations and paid enormous fees for their counsel and assistance And then what of the other large fees that have been traced to his hands? What is to be said of his making no return for the succeeding years? Does that say nothing? Surely not. There was a wish to avoid the payment of a portion of the taxes. It indicated a disposition to defraud the government upon the principle of those who were willing to resort to any evasion that could Mr. Tilden have made a still more favorable return during those same years when he returned no income, if he had in fact been in receipt of large fees? All the circumstances become reconcilable and consistent when it is assumed that the charge of fees is true; and they become irreconcilable upon any other hypothesis

We say that Judge Sinnott's defense misses the case He denies one of the most prominent items, and offers a diatribe against the New York Times, whose statements are alleged to be inspired by unworthy motives and grossly inaccurate It is not enough in such a case like this to denounce the character of the accuser and declare his statements inaccurate. His motives are nothing to nothing, if the charge he makes is substantially true, and to say in effect that he misrepresents is very far from a specific denial of all the facts The allegation may be ill-founded in fact and ridiculous, and yet true in its gist and substance. No man can say he has been more unfairly dealt with fully who does no more than say that his accuser is malicious The Times' exposure in this matter might be charged to be both malicious and incorrect in important particulars, and yet Tilden might be guilty in substance as charged

The other defense is that during the years 1862 and the years immediately succeeding, Tilden helped his brothers, who had become involved in business affairs, and that he lost in that way a hundred thousand dollars or more. Well, suppose he did The law provided that losses in one's business might be allowed him in his income return; but the whole income was required to be stated in such cases, and the losses could then be stated and the amount or was to deduct them Mr Tilden claimed no such losses He simply gave in his total income at $7,118 So if losses sustained by helping his brothers in their business could be considered losses in his business, within the meaning of the law, which is extremely questionable but which is no better He still has that false return staring him in the face

And then, place these two defenses in juxtaposition, and how does the case look? One of them is that he did not receive the money, the other that he lost it How do his friends propose to make the two explanations tally with each other? That task is before them We wait with some interest to see them perform it

A case that requires so much special pleading, is certainly not a very promising one A case whose defenders thus shuffle and prevaricate and contradict each other, is a case that depends not upon truth for its defense We trust the evening organ will take occasion at an early day to show its readers how all the facts stated in Mr Tilden's two lines of defense can be true or, if it should single out one of them as false, that it will then favor the public with the course of reasoning by which the other is to be substantiated

THE KELLY FRUIT DRIER

Some days ago, while riding through the country, we were struck with wonder at the quantity of superb fruit that was rotting and going on the ground. In one orchard, at a [illegible] the city, the ground under the trees was covered with beautiful golden pears and plums as ripe and juicy and luscious as any epicure could desire We would have thought that the owner of the orchard was a shiftless fellow if the neatness of his enclosures the trimness of his wheat stacks and the general air of thrift about his place had not forbid that idea On inquiring why he made no use of the fine fruit we saw lying so abundantly around us he replied that the distance from market made the expense of hauling so great that what he could get for his fruit when sold would not more than pay for getting it to market and that there was no profit in selling it We thought then that if some way could be devised to enable this and other farmers similarly situated to sell the produce of their orchards it would be of the greatest value to the community—for nearly every farmer would be benefited by it—and to the State

We have been shown to day by Mr Watson some samples of peach leather and apple butter made by a machine invented by Mr Hampton Kelly which seems calculated to meet the wants of fruit and vegetable growers who may desire to dry fruit or condense cider, perry or milk These samples were the finest in appearance and richest in flavor we have ever seen The machine by which they were made is a tin cylinder ten or twenty feet long heated from the inside by steam It is made to revolve slowly and the fruit which has first been ground to a pulp is allowed to drip on it from a perforated trough placed immediately above it The fruit dries in a very perfect manner, preserving all the color, flavor and sweetness of the original The process may go on until the cylinder is coated an inch or more in thickness, when the product is removed by dividing it with a knife and peeling it off as the skin is peeled from an orange or banana It is then rolled up and is ready for use Fruit thus preserved has been taken to sea and carried through the tropics twice without injuring its quality in any particular

We can not think of anything more useful for the prevention of scurvy in ships bound on long voyages than the fruit dried by this process, as by the simple addition of a little water to the preserved product an article of food is obtained of an agreeable taste, possessing all the anti scorbutic properties of the original in its natural state.

The utility of this machine is not restricted to the drying of apples and peaches Any fruit or vegetable which can be ground to a pulp, or any juice, and ale beer and milk can be dried or condensed in the most perfect manner

One of these machines will be exhibited at the State Fair at Salem We advise every farmer who has an orchard and is going to the State Fair to carry with him a few ripe pears, apples, plums or prunes and have them dried on Mr Kelly's machine Then let him carry the preserve home and eat some of it. The result will be that he will admit that we have not said too much for the machine or of its products

Further examination convinces us that Senator George's bill relating to assessments would be a valuable aid in the equalization of taxes As far as it goes, it proceeds on the correct principle It is complete in itself, and would improve the assessment law very much It should be supplemented, however, by a bill providing for greater strictness in the local assessor's duties, and in the county boards of equalization. The evil requires radical measures for a remedy. Mr George will deserve the thanks of the people if he succeeds in equalizing the State taxes. If he could only be correspondingly successful in devising a way to make all classes of property bear their just proportion of the burdens of county government he would confer one of the greatest favors upon the people at large that could be conferred by State legislation At present there is no such thing possible as equality in taxation

It is stated on Republican authority that the Republican ring at Washington have been furnishing points to the Democrats with which to attack Bristow in his Ohio campaign for Hayes and Wheeler Is that the way the Administration is helping to elect the Republican candidates? If personal resentment goes to the length of producing such treachery, the Republicans of the nation ought to know it An open foe can be met openly and defeated honorably, or achieved an honorable victory but a secret enemy who pretends to be an active friend is the most dangerous enemy to meet

See the request of the legislative committee on fisheries, for information It was handed us a few days ago for publication, but was mislaid or overlooked The delay was our fault and we regret it very much, but it is not too late yet and the importance of the matter should insure a prompt response from those possessing information on the subject This is one of the greatest interests of our State and it is of the last importance that it be taken care of before the fish in our streams are destroyed

Blaine was ruined as a candidate for President, not by being shown to be a bad man but by the false accusation that he had been on terms of intimacy with stock jobbers and railway wreckers Tilden will be defeated before the people because he is shown to be one of the sort of men Blaine was accused of being intimate with

RUPTURE!
No More Metallic Trusses Used!
No More Suffering from Iron Hoops or Steel Springs!
THE SUPERIORITY OF OUR ELASTIC Trusses over the rigid Iron Hoops which in former days were the only resource of the ruptured admits of NO ARGUMENT
By means of this appliance the pressure on the Rupture itself can be made uniform and continuous and to the extent required in each case until a slight inflammation of the parts is secured and the consequent effusion of lymph which is essential to a healing process and from this time to the conclusion of the treatment the pressure being entirely within the control of the patient can be lessened daily as the adhesion progresses and the body becomes sound All cases of reducible Hernia are permanently relieved without regard to the age of the patient or the duration of injury while in its action it is wholly free from all the cruelty that has characterized the treatment of the malady with tortuous Metal Trusses from the earliest age to the present day Your attention is called to the following facts
1st—There are no springs to press upon or to injure the back
2d—It is simple in construction and not liable to get out of order
3d—This instrument is worn with perfect ease while riding horseback
4th—The Rupture is retained and the pressure the same while in any position
5th—It has none of the injurious results of metallic Trusses
6th—It will perform radical cures when all others fail
7th—It is worn with ease and comfort night and day which cannot be said truthfully of any metal Truss whatever
Experience shows that all tempered elastic Trusses necessarily press upon and often disease parts of the body that before were in a perfectly healthy condition Lumbago and other equally distressing ailments are not unfrequently the result of such pressure and in view of this fact it becomes a matter of decided consequence to avoid like casualties if possible

SHIPPING NOTES.

The ship Michael Angelo has been hauled alongside the dock.

The British bark Cleta commenced to discharge cargo yesterday.

The vessels Garibaldi and Edward James are the only vessels now lying at anchor.

The hull of the fine ship Warwick Castle is being scraped preparatory to receiving a new coat of paint.

The British bark Arctic, under charter to Corbitt & Macleay, will complete her cargo of grain to-day for Europe.

The British bark Downiemount, Capt. Meaits, master, sailed from Newcastle, N. S. W., for Portland on the 25th of August.

The British ship City of Dublin was to sail for Portland from New Zealand some time during the present month—date not fixed.

The handsome little iron bark Salado has been hauled alongside the Gas Co.'s dock, where her cargo of coal will be discharged.

The bark Webfoot with an assorted cargo from San Francisco, and the Norwegian bark Fiedene, are both in the river and will probably arrive here this forenoon.

The Cleta and Mattie Macleay together brought to this port Hawaiian produce to the value of $54,000, including 102,000 pounds of rice and 775,000 pounds of sugar.

The ship Pomona, chartered by Allen & Lewis, will clear to-day, and in a few days is to proceed on her voyage to Europe. The Pomona will carry away 1,841 tons of grain.

The St. Andrew's Castle went to sea yesterday. This vessel carries to Europe 20,000 centals of wheat, valued at $29,000. The St. Andrew's Castle was dispatched by Messrs. Corbitt & Macleay, and is the first grain v...sel of the season.

The fine ship Duart Bay, having completed her cargo of grain for the United Kingdom, will proceed to sea in a few days. The Duart Bay is dispatched by Jas. Laidlaw & Co., and will carry hence 23,495 centals and 25 pounds, valued at $41,574 73.

The bark Alden Besse sailed for San Francisco from Honolulu with a cargo valued at $85,500, including 1,300 pounds of rice and 1,810,000 pounds of sugar. After discharging cargo at San Francisco the Besse will sail for Portland. She will probably carry hence a a load of lumber for Australia or Hongkong.

There will be a regular meeting of Excelsior Lodge, K. of P., at their hall this (Wednesday) evening at 8 o'clock.

John Collins was the only inebriated individual who put in an appearance at police court yesterday morning.

The Onconta has gone to the boneyard temporarily. The Willamette Chief has taken her place on the Portland-Cascade line.

The agent for Gray's music store has laid on our table a copy of the "Corso Galop," composed by Ueber Schar and arranged by Louis Bodecker.

Mr. Simon, of East Portland, has left at this office several magnificent clusters of grapes. They belong to the variety known as the "Blue Portugese."

Mr. Thos. Connelly, the conductor on the special train between this city and Hillsboro, has our thanks for numerous favors. Tom is "one of our boys, he is."

Mr. D. M. Gault, formerly for years a clerk for Smith & Davis, druggists in Portland, will permanently locate on Stewart creek, about 18 miles from Pendleton. He will go into the stock business.

WASHINGTON COUNTY FAIR.

Second Day.

HILLSBORO, Sept. 26.

The bright rays of this morning's sun, the balmy air of a beautiful autumn day, and the smiling promise of Dame Nature that she would furnish splendid weather for this week's Fair, were not enough to dispel the gloomy clouds from the brows of the numerous class who had gone to some expense to cater to the needs, whims or vices of visitors. Elongated countenances were the fashion, and no improvement seemed to be made by the small reinforcements on the 8:40 trains from Portland and Yamhill county; but as the morning wore on in its beauty, a steady stream of arrivals from all directions began to change the aspect of affairs for the better, and by noon the grounds had all the appearance of a real gala day. The crowd, though not large, was good-natured, and as a consequence spent a few dimes cheerfully, which results in the other class looking well pleased, and all respond to the voice of nature, excepting those who have not recovered from the "big jamboree" of last night.

These nightly orgies threaten to very much mar the success of the Fair. Sunday night the drunkenness and hoodlumism was a disgrace to the human kind. Men, old and young, and boys of tender years, were staggering about the grounds making night hideous with their songs, shouts and brawls. Last night the presence of several deputy marshals made a slight improvement, but the scenes were only endurable by contrast with those of the night before.

FIGHTING

Was a matter of course under such circumstances, but the only two affrays worthy of note were first, the longest light on record, in which McF. struck Tommy in the forenoon, and Tommy struck back about 9 o'clock in the evening each one securing a knock-down, and both are satisfied with the result. Second, yesterday afternoon a well-known horseman severely punished a fellow who had insulted his wife.

THE EXHIBITION

Proper is the best I have seen at a county fair. Good horses continue to arrive, notably a Mr. Redmund, of Yamhill, with a fine bred trotter which he imported from Canada, and of whom more ought to be said when I can find it out. He is a large bay horse of faultless make, and claimed to go in the thirties. I don't know whether he is to be speeded or not. S. G. Reed, A. Luelling, Stewart & Sons, McEldorony, and J. C. Hawthorne have pure bred cattle, and grades. Reed, Robt. Imbrie, and John R. Porter have sheep both pure and graded. Hawthorne, Reed and Luelling have fine hogs, and there are others yet to enter in all of those lines. Poultry are thinly represented. I noticed some coops of spangled Hamburgs, a pair of very large light Brahmas and a few buff Cochins, but this county can beat all that if the breeders would come out.

IN THE PAVILION

There is quite a rush to display articles, and many of them have merit. Vegetables are in keeping with the Centennial year. There are good displays of fruit of which Robert Imbrie and S. Luelling have the largest lots, and probably the best in most varieties. J. R. Porter has almost monopolized the space of the floral department, but I hope he will not get off without some good rivalry. The art and fancy department has not yet emerged from the chaos of disorder, while the needlework and all that sort of thing is already into that worse chaos of order so puzzling to masculine eyes that I must procure the assistance of an expert before venturing upon that troubled sea.

THE CIRCUS

Arrived this forenoon, having made a march of thirty miles after playing at McMinnville last night. They play this evening and to-morrow afternoon an evening, and then move for Portland, where the show will be reinforced by several cages of animals shipped by the Stevens on account of being too heavy to haul overland.

THE TURF

Was represented to-day by a race for three year olds, mile heats. S. Stott named s. m. Fiddle, a Jack Minor; Wm. White named b. g. Sank Owens, a Lindsey, and Humason named b. m. Bonita of the same blood. All were good looking colts, the gelding being favorite. At the pools, the betting was about Sank 6, Bonita 5, Fiddle 1. The interest of the race was in a measure marred by the unusual arrangement of putting the grand stand beyond the first turn from the judges' stand, so that persons must either stand in the hot sunshine or miss seeing the start and out come. Another innovation was the immense circus tent placed so as to cut of the view of the turn to the home stretch. This, however, was unavoidable as there was not room anywhere else for the establishment.

The horses were called up on time and turned loose in very good order, position being as named in the entry; but from some cause they were not sent off, and at the next attempt Tompkins was holding his mare and Tennant his horse so far back that they lost 40 and 30 yards respectively. The sorrel mare having thus lost the inside, scared at the crowd and refused to run until she reached the back stretch, when she and Sank both passed the bay mare, the sorrel being ahead a little. Sank's rider, Wisely, held him out to the hard ground, and by a handsome spurt passed under the string a length ahead of the sorrel mare, Bonita a poor third.

The second heat was run in about the same way, except that Fiddle showed signs of fatigue and trailed the others to the home stretch, where she passed the bay mare and compelled Sank Owens to run his best for the race, which he did, and won in 2:00.

RECAPITULATION.

Mile heats, for 3-year olds	$1 50 & $75
White names b. g. Sank Owens	1:1
Stott s. m. Fiddle	2:2
Humason b. m. Bonita	3:3
Time	1:58; 2:00.

The exercises for to-morrow are arranged as follows:

The superintendent and judges of the different classes will meet at the pavilion at 9 o'clock A. M. and receive from the secretary a list of the entries made and proceed to examine the same. By 5 o'clock P. M. superintendents and judges will finish their work and report the same to the secretary, who shall proceed to make entry of the same on the records of the Society.

A. M.—Examination of stock, etc.

1 o'clock P. M.—Best trotting horse, mare or gelding, free for all, best 3 in 5; entrance $50, to be added to the purse; purse, $30.

2 o'clock P. M.—Shooting match, $10, $5.

3 o'clock P. M.—Trial of horses for all work, $10, $5.

The races on Friday promise to be interesting. In addition to the running race for $500, there is to be a good sweepstakes for 2-year olds, in which there will be a good many fine colts started, and doubtless some good running.

The annual address did not come off to-day on account of there being no speaker engaged. Magic Oil Murray and the "King of Pain" both claim the position, and are trying to talk one another to death. I think Orlando bids fair to win.

THE INTERNATIONAL RIFLE TROPHY.

The international rifle trophy is a unique work, both in design and in the remarkable effects produced by combining different metals. The general idea is of a Roman triumphal standard, but, because wrought in metals, treated in a purely conventional manner. The trophy is about seven and a half feet high, and is formed of steel, inlaid with gold and silver, and otherwise enriched with elaborate mountings of copper. The staff is plain, smooth steel, with fillets of polished copper, and is surmounted by a foliated capital, above which is a paneled block, bearing in lieu of the S. P. Q. R. upon the Roman banners, the Latin word "Fidus," signifying prominence, valor, and victory. Hanging across the face of this is a silver laurel. A finely-sculptured copper eagle with raised wings surmounts the whole, and in his claws is held the fulmen (indicative of power) from which shafts of lightning and branches of laurel are wrought in silver. A fasces of copper is attached by massive links to the paneled box, and from it hangs the field of the banner, which is enriched with a delicate scroll-work of gold super-imposed upon the steel, and across the face is the legend, in highly ornate letters of incrusted silver: "In the name of the United States of America, to the riflemen of the world." An elaborate gold frieze, in high relief, extends across the lower edge, and from it hangs a massive gilded fringe. A copper chain, fastened at either end of the fasces, hangs in a semi circle across the field, and attached to it at intervals are nine laurel wreaths of silver, inclosing each a plate of copper in which the dates from 1876 to 1884 are inlaid, and having each a space on which to engrave the name of the nation that shall win the year send forth the victorious team. This trophy, from its originality, will attract attention in whatever country it may be held, and cannot fail to excite admiration for the marvelous manipulation of metals which it presents. Many of the methods of decoration employed in its construction are new to us in this country, and it illustrates in a marked manner the taste and skill of Messrs. Tiffany & Co., the makers, as well as the vast resources of their workshops.

LAND FOR IMMIGRANTS.

Choice Farms for Sale.

4,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation, and suitable for grain or vegetables.

946 Acres, four miles southeast of Salem, on the railroad, with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs, consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety-four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground chained by Mr. Alfred Stanton, of Salem.

2,700 Acres of prairie and light brush land, with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, beautiful lake on the east, boat landings all along the river, commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold from $15 to $25 per acre. This land will all be immediately resurveyed, and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels, to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided in the best possible advantage, and I can offer any person or persons, or colony of persons, desiring to purchase homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages, as well as most favorably located with respect to markets, greater advantages, on more favorable terms, than they can ever expect to realize again.
